This mission directive prescribes the mission, organization, and responsibilities for the Air Force Reserve Command (AFRC) Regional Support Groups (RSG).

SUMMARY OF REVISIONS

This revision captures changes to mission functions that delete the Readiness Division and add the Medical Division. Functional statements (Attachment 1) and organizational charts (Attachment 2, Attachment 3, and Attachment 4) are altered accordingly. A (I) indicates revision from the previous edition.

1. Mission. Ensures command and control of geographically separated units (GSU) assigned to RSGs. Ensures assigned AFRC units are trained and equipped to maintain operational readiness according to the applicable gaining command standards.

2. Command. The commander of each assigned GSU reports directly to the RSG commander. The commander of the RSG reports directly to the Numbered Air Force (NAF) commander.

3. Assigned Forces. The RSG consists of the RSG staff and the assigned GSUs. The RSG is collocated with the NAF. The staff includes the support, medical, and plans divisions. Assigned GSUs include aerial port; civil engineer; services; aeromedical staging; combat logistics support; communications services; logistics support; Rapid Engineer Deployable Heavy Operational Repair Squadron Engineer (RED HORSE); medical, mission support and combat operations units. See attached organizational charts.

4. Relationships to Other Units:

4.1. Established command channels apply. Direct communication with the active duty advisory unit/active duty advisors of gaining commands is authorized on matters directly relating to training, inspection, operational mission coordination, logistics support, and safety. Forward copies of correspondence documenting such coordination to the appropriate NAF and HQ AFRC functional managers. The RSGs provide support to the NAF commanders as well as operational control over their subordinate GSUs.

4.2. AFRC/NAF will establish supporting wings which will provide all required support functions such as personnel, training, finance, medical, plans, etc. to each GSU. The host unit continues to provide personnel, training, finance, medical, and plans (that is, planning and support agreements) support

5. Organizational Changes. Request changes to the organizational structure according to AFI 38-101, Air Force Organization, and submit to HQ AFRC/XPM. Changes to organizational structure are approved by AFRC/CV.

JAMES E. SHERRARD, III, Maj Gen, USAF
Commander
